

The very thought of a government allowing a sales organization access to my private phone line for the purpose of a high pressure sales pitch is disturbing. The DO NOT CALL legislation in New Jersey has allowed me peace and quiet during dinner and evening hours after a day of work. I consider this to be private time to be shared with family and friends not to be spent fending off the onerous sales pitches of telemarketers.

Not only do I ask you to leave the New Jersey Law in place but to commend this state for taking the necessary action to protect its citizens from unwanted and unwarranted invasions of what should be a private thing, their home and the enjoyment of its peace and tranquility.

Ways should be found to strengthen such laws and to actively prosecute those who break it.

Thank you
